Website

1st September 2024

My main fields of research are legal philosophy, especially legal theory and ethics, public international law, and international criminal law. My most relevant publications are the monography on legal fictions (2020), a paper on the development of the basic norm in Hans Kelsen's work in the American Journal of Jurisprudence (2021) and a paper on the value of nature in which I focus on the evaluation methods for damage of nature used by the International Court of Justice in the Archiv des Völkerrechts (2024).
